

Why Choose Long Island Power Solutions?

- Experience – Some contractors tout their experience and the size of their company. The real question is: How much experience does the actual mechanic who will do your job have? At Long Island Power Solutions, the owner of the company, a NABCEP certified, (www.nabcep.org), master electrician will be on your job to make sure it is done perfectly. Only the owner of a company has a vested interest in receiving referrals and is always conscious of that goal.
- Quality – Long Island Power Solutions uses SHARP solar panels. Many sales people shine a light on one feature or another that makes their product look good. In our research we find that when you consider everything involved, efficiency, performance, aesthetics, reliability, reputation, and price, SHARP panels are the best buy you can find. If you are getting a 25 year warranty from a company, you would like a company that you know will be there in 25 years. It's no accident that SHARP is the number one solar panel equipment manufacturer in the world. They always had a good reputation of standing behind their products.
- Reliability – We pride ourselves in a simple but sometimes elusive concept. "Do what you say you will do."
- Attention to Detail – Any trained solar professional can get the panels on your roof and get them to work. It is the small stuff that separates the mediocre from the great companies. Attention to the small details is what earns multiple referrals from every client.
- Price – Long Island Power Solutions is dedicated to making solar affordable for everyone. We are lean, efficient and we never subcontract to another vendor. Our philosophy is: Do them quickly, do them right, and do them often. We do a lot of business and have secured buying power to keep costs down. We pass that savings on to you.
